Report Summary – Surprise?

Based on the methods with which we analyzed Bank of Clark County, its failure was not a surprise.

Here are the indications that Bank of Clark County should fail:

- 1) Bank of Clark County's normalized income went from positive number suddenly down to -5.69% in 2008 Q4.
- 2) From the perspective of delinquent asset, the ratio has rapidly increased since 2008 Q1. Before the bank's failure, its delinquent asset ratio was more than 5%.
- 3) Bank of Clark County's real estate loan asset ratio has always been high and risky.
- 4) Bank of Clark County's asset: liability ratio dropped 6% in the last quarter.
- 5) Its Bankability Composite Score was -16.25 before its failure, which was considered to be very poor.

The combination of all these five measures being poor obviously shows that the bank could fail anytime.
